WELCOMING ADDRESS

The Department of Curriculum and Instruction (C&I) in the School of Education at Indiana University-Bloomington invites you to participate in the Third International Conference on Literacy, Culture, and Language Education (ICLCLE) to be held on 14-16 October 2022 in the W. W. Wright Education Building, Indiana University-Bloomington, USA.

The Third International Conference on Literacy, Culture, and Language Education (ICLCLE) is a multidisciplinary, interdisciplinary, and transdisciplinary event that will bring together researchers, educators, scholars, instructors, practitioners, activists, and graduate students from around the world. This international conference includes research, pedagogy, and practice about diverse issues in language, literacy, and culture in education. The participants in this conference will be involved in a local and global dialogue and exchange of ideas, research, and experiences on the themes of the event.

As members of the Organizing Committee, it is our great honor to welcome all participants to the ICLCLE 2022 Conference at Indiana University, Bloomington IN, USA.

Yours sincerely,

The ICLCLE 2022 Organizing Committee

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Suresh Canagarajah is the Edwin Erle Sparks Professor of English, Applied Linguistics, and Asian Studies at Pennsylvania State University. He teaches World Englishes, Multilingual Writing, Decolonial Studies, and Disability Rhetoric in the departments of English and Applied Linguistics. Suresh comes from the Tamil-speaking northern region of Sri Lanka. He has taught before in the University of Jaffna, Sri Lanka, and the City University of New York. His most recent publication is Language Incompetence: Learning to Communicate through Cancer, Disability, and Anomalous Embodiment (Routledge, 2022). His publication Translingual Practice: Global Englishes and Cosmopolitan Relations (Routledge, 2013) won the best book award from the American Association of Applied Linguistics, British Association of Applied Linguistics, and the Modern Language Association of America. Suresh was formerly the editor of the TESOL Quarterly and President of the American Association of Applied Linguistics. He currently serves in the Pennsylvania State Law Enforcement Citizen Advisory Commission, established through the executive order of the governor of Pennsylvania to improve policing practices in the state. He also co-ordinates the “Consortium for Democratizing Academic Publishing and Knowledge” to mentor minoritized scholars.

Angela Reyes is Professor and Chair of the Department of English at Hunter College, City University of New York (CUNY) and Doctoral Faculty in the Program in Anthropology at the CUNY Graduate Center. Reyes works on theories of semiotics, racialization, and coloniality. Her research examines historical and contemporary formations of language and personhood in the U.S. and the Philippines. Her books include The Oxford Handbook of Language and Race (co-edited with H. Samy Alim and Paul Kroskrity), Discourse Analysis Beyond the Speech Event (co-authored with Stanton Wortham), Beyond Yellow English: Toward a Linguistic Anthropology of Asian Pacific America (co-edited with Adrienne Lo), and Language, Identity, and Stereotype Among Southeast Asian American Youth: The Other Asian.

Jonathan Rosa is Associate Professor in the Graduate School of Education, Center for Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity, and, by courtesy, Departments of Anthropology, Linguistics, and Comparative Literature at Stanford University. He is also Director of Stanford’s Program in Chicana-Latinx Studies and President of the Association of Latina/o and Latinx Anthropologists of the American Anthropological Association. Rosa’s research centers on joint analyses of racial marginalization, linguistic stigmatization, and educational inequity. He is author of the award-winning book, Looking like a Language, Sounding like a Race: Raciolinguistic Ideologies and the Learning of Latinidad (2019, Oxford University Press), and co-editor of the volume, Language and Social Justice in Practice (2019, Routledge). His work has appeared in scholarly journals such as Harvard Educational Review, American Ethnologist, Journal of Linguistic Anthropology, and Language in Society, as well as media outlets such as The New York Times, The Nation, NPR, and Univision.
